“Over the past few semi-annual index evaluations, we’ve been adding a growing number of clean-energy yieldcos/REITs to the Green Energy Index,” explains Ron Pernick, founder and managing director, Clean Edge, Inc. “CELS now contains five yieldcos/REITs which are investing in clean-energy deployment and offering project-related yields. As the clean-energy industry increasingly expands from technology development to mainstream deployment, we believe the inclusion of qualifying yieldcos and REITs enables our index to better reflect today’s dynamic marketplace.”
